

‘12 Characters in Search of an Apocalypse... On the Road’

A Giraffe Social Enterprises (GSE) production of the work of USA author Andrew Boyd

COME! all ye who wrestle with the times in which we live.
Join us to be stirred, shaken, engaged, listened to and more as together we bring to life “12 Characters in Search of an Apocalypse”

The 12 Characters offer to us their own complex perspectives on living today, what they see coming towards them, and what they are (or aren't) doing about it. Using their words as seeds for our conversation, the evening together will include time to engage and explore our own complicated relationships with the questions that arise as the unravelling of the web of life that supports us becomes an increasing part of day to day lives.

When: 19.00 - 22.00 Saturday, 9 March, 2019

Where: Bridies Yard, Northover, Beckery Old Road, Glastonbury BA6 9NU

Cost: 12 Characters engages in financial co-responsibility: there is an opportunity to contribute both to those who struggled to attend and to those who created the event

What to bring: A willingness to be moved by what you hear and share your experiences

We will begin promptly at 19.15 with the reading of the 12 monologues with brief interludes for enquiry and exploration - this will take @ 1.5 hours. Our remaining time together is then open for conversation, exploring and sharing how the unravelling is affecting us, our families, and our communities.

12 Characters ‘On the Road’ was conceived by Jason Stewart and is hosted through GSE. Since 2017, GSE have travelled England, Wales, and Scotland with this project to cultivate conversations among neighbors about things that are often hard to begin. In the coming times, we believe we will need each other more than ever.
